

NOW IT IS PECKHAM.

Mr. Cleveland Sends in Another Anti-Snapper for Justice.

HILL SAYS HE WILL FIGHT THIS ONE

The Nominee Is a Mugwump, and Has Criticized the Senate.

ANOTHER BRIDGE BILL TO BE OFFERED

No Attempt Is to Be Made to Pass the Rejected Measure Over the President's Veto.

Washington, January 22.—(Special.)—The president today nominated Wheeler H. Peckham, of New York city, as associate justice of the supreme court. The nomination is for the place that Mr. Hornblower was recently nominated for. Peckham is the president of the New York City Bar Association. He is one of the most prominent mugwumps of New York city. He is a leader among the anti-snappers, and has occupied a conspicuous position among the opponents of the regular organized New York democracy. He is the brother of Rufus Peckham, of Albany, whom Senator Hill suggested as a good man for the vacancy on the supreme bench. This Peckham, however, is an entirely different man. He is noted as a brilliant, but cranky, lawyer.

Senator Hill and the New York democrats generally in congress are outraged at the nomination. They say that Peckham is the bitterest enemy in the entire state of the democratic organization. He has never been a straight-out democrat, but has been recognized for many years as a mugwump leader. He has been against the party as often as he has been for it. Though claiming to be a democrat. When the senate rejected Mr. Hornblower last week, he was one of the first men in New York to rush into print abusing the senators. Among other statements made was one to the effect that the senate had gotten to be nothing more than a political machine.

Senator Hill will oppose Peckham's nomination. He thinks he can defeat him. He believes that the president nominated him simply for spite. Senator Hill says Peckham is not qualified in any way for a position on the bench, and he is endorsed in this statement by all the New York democrats who are among the organization men. Hill is making his fight against Peckham will make use of the interview which Peckham recently printed abusing the senate.

Peckham is the man who, as president of the New York City Bar Association, drew up the resolution to impeach Maynard. He was also one of the leaders against the democratic ticket in the last election in New York.

Senator Hill feels very confident that he will be able to defeat Peckham's confirmation. If he does, it will be a severe blow to the president. The truth of the matter is, that it is about time the president and the senate should stop this warring upon each other. The feeling between the two men is very bitter, and the fight has grown to be a personal one. In it Hill has nothing to lose and Cleveland nothing to gain.

Boutelle Is Bolstered.
Mr. Boutelle, of Maine, was again made a display of himself in the house this morning. When the Hawaiian correspondence came in and was read he suggested that Mr. Cleveland was trying to bolster up his case by a series of letters written by Mr. Willis with a view of exciting prejudice against the governor. Mr. Boutelle, in his impulsive and wild style, demanded immediate action and accused Mr. Cleveland of still being engaged in trying to incite a revolt against a peaceful government.

Speaker Crisp ruled Mr. Boutelle out of order. The Maine man persisted and the speaker found it necessary to order the sergeant-at-arms out with his mace, to force Boutelle to resume his seat. Boutelle seems to like this sort of business. The speaker has been compelled to order him to sit down a number of times. Boutelle will probably continue his tactics each morning, or whenever anything brings up the Hawaiian matter.

Chairman Wilson Is Ill.
While Mr. Wilson, chairman of the ways and means committee, is still attending to his duties in the house, he is in extremely bad health and his complete break down has been feared by his colleagues on the floor. Four nights ago he had a hemorrhage and has been very feeble since. Today, however, he is considerably better.

Governor Tillman, of South Carolina, spent the day here.

No attempt will be made in the house to pass the New York bridge bill over the president's veto, but another bill, providing for the same thing in a different manner, will be introduced and rushed through both houses of congress.

Mr. John Temple Graves, of Georgia, is here. Mr. Graves will lecture for the Georgia Club some time in March.

Good Outlook for the Income Tax.
The ways and means committee has at last finally completed the internal revenue bill, containing the income tax, and will report the same to the house within the next few days. Mr. Tarsney, of Missouri, who is very much interested in the passage of an income tax and who has stated several times that he intended to move to attach it to the tariff bill, said today that the caucus would be referred to a democratic caucus, and that the bill would be introduced to the tariff bill. He believes that it is certain to pass. Several of the republican leaders of the house announced this morning that the republicans would vote in committee of the whole to attach the income tax bill to the tariff bill. As opposed to the income tax, they believe by the chances of that bill, it will endanger the income tax. If this is done, the bill will pass with but few dissenting democratic votes.

As things now stand only about thirty-five democrats in the house are opposed to the income tax and even the majority of these thirty-five would vote for it in order to vote for the tariff bill. Though the

POOR SHOW TO FIGHT

Jacksonville's Sports Bit Off Rather Too Much to Chew.

THEY TRY TO ENJOIN THE GOVERNOR

Mitchell Says That No Circuit Court Can Restrict Him.

TODAY THE COURT HEARS THE CASE

The Club Is Out of Pocket, and Unless It Gets a Large Crowd Will Lose Heavily.

Jacksonville, Fla., January 22.—(Special.)—The day has produced no change in the situation and tonight the fight is as much of an uncertainty as it was twenty-four hours ago. Those who favor the fight assert most positively that it will come off, while those who are opposed to the mill are just as emphatic and positive in their declarations that under no conditions can the fight take place in Florida. Those who declare that the fight will be fought will take place and that all that can be secured from them.

Those opposed to the fight, however, occupy stronger grounds in their denial. They cite the action of the governor and the work he has done and the work he has mapped out as an evidence of his unwillingness to allow the meeting between the two pugilists. The military of the state is now under moving orders and tomorrow night Jacksonville will be the rendezvous of the Florida militia. The coming of the soldiers, or rather the avowed announcement from official sources that the troops will be sent to Jacksonville, appears to have little or no effect upon the club people and the friends of the fight. Among these it is presumed, judging from what they say, that the troops are coming for the sole purpose of preventing the fight. Colonel Cockrell, who is the club people has the least idea that the soldiers will attempt to follow the excursion train and fighters out of the city. It is the impression that the troops will care for Jacksonville only. The Duval club folks are, however, badly mixed. To all inquiries they give a positive answer that the fight will be pulled off and assert most vehemently that there can be no doubt of it.

Bully Rattled.
But while they are talking it is apparent that they are rattled. Of the half dozen directors one is always in sight on the streets, and he is always in a hurry. He is so big that he has not time to talk. At the headquarters of the club there is very little more satisfaction. No one knows anything.

The members of the club declare that they have completed every detail for the work and will be ready Thursday morning. In the meantime they have posted an offer to bet $1,000 to $200 that the fight will come off. Still, there is an apparent feeling of uneasiness about the directors which indicates that they are not so sure of themselves. If the fight comes off it is more than probable that the club will be in a bad way. The club is throwing away money, and the building cannot be used for any other purpose. That being the case, why does the club go on? The club is throwing away money, and the building cannot be used for any other purpose. That being the case, why does the club go on?

In the face of the fact that the soldiers are coming, it would appear absurd to assert that the fight could take place in the city. To be emphatically straight with the readers of The Constitution, I would say that if the fight does take place, no one outside of General Manager Bowden can just now tell where it will be.

It is well known here that the members of the club are quite sure. The organization is now out of pocket between $20,000 and $30,000, and the uncertainty in the situation keeps many persons away who wanted to come. If it is a chase to the woods, not more than 2,000 people would go. Add the purse, $30,000, to the other expenses, and the club is in a bad way. Up to today tickets have been $25, but tomorrow they may be raised to $50, and the present indications are that the members of the press will have to pay, too. That announcement was made officially by the club today.

Bowden's Nerve Keeps It Up.
Whether the fight comes off or not it is a certainty that Jacksonville is now known more universally and generally than ever before. All day long a line of Western Union messengers has been in and out of the office and the club headquarters. The messages came from every section of the country and every one was an inquiry as to the probability of the fight. To all these the same answer was sent, and that answer was an assurance that the fight would take place. They were all written at the dictation of Manager J. E. T. Bowden, who is now the backbone of the club. But for him and his great will power, indomitable nerve and pride, the club would now be in the hole. Bowden is one of the leading business men of the city and his words are as good as law. Bowden has been a great help to the club. He has been a great help to the club. He has been a great help to the club.

Mitchell Anxious to Fight.
The club has acceded to "Hones" John Kelly's demands in regard to the purse and it is said that the money will be paid over to him tomorrow. Kelly is authority for this statement. Kelly returned from St. Augustine this evening, where he had been to see Charles Mitchell. He reported that Mitchell was ready to fight. Kelly quotes Mitchell as saying that he is ready to meet Corbett in the presence of twelve men and without any purse if the fight can be held in no other way.

"But," naively added the Englishman, "I want the purse." The story sent out by special correspondents last night that Mitchell had sprained an ankle was a rank fake. Kelly reports the Englishman in the pink of condition. The threatened proceedings against Corbett for entering a house at Mayport, as mentioned in these dispatches last night, did not materialize. Brady got wind of the matter and arranged with Meyer, the owner of the house.

The arrivals are picking up. About 300 sports got in today from St. Louis, New Orleans, Memphis and other points. John J. Mason, well known in sporting circles, heads the Memphis delegation. The club is hoping that enough people will arrive to justify it in going on with the fight. The betting is still two to one on Corbett.

Will Win? asked the champion repeating the question, "Yes I will win, sure."

Killed by a Tough Citizen.
Bristol, Tenn., January 22.—(Special.)—At Kingsport last Saturday evening, Bob Ketrone and Joe Birdwell became involved in a difficulty which resulted fatally to Birdwell. The two men were engaged in a quarrel at Ketrone's house, when Ketrone struck Birdwell in the head with a club. Birdwell lingered until Sunday morning, when he died. Ketrone is under arrest. Both were married men and Birdwell had the reputation of a peaceable citizen, while Ketrone was a tough character.

HILL IS A FREE MAN.

Harry Is Released by the Chicago Judge at the Hearing.

ALTEGOLD REFUSES A REQUISITION.

A Negro Barber Put Up Money for the Lawyer.

HILL LEAVES THE WINDY CITY.

He Said He Would Come to Atlanta, but Did Not Want to Travel with an Officer.

Chicago, January 22.—(Special.)—Judge Dunn today ordered the release of Harry Hill and knocked out the charge of Hill being a fugitive from justice. It was not, however, until a telegram from Governor Alitgold was shown the court and an explanation was made by the state's attorney that the judge agreed to let him go.

Jennings had kept the wires hot to Inspector Shea. The attorney general stated that, while he is willing to let Hill go, he is not willing to let him go without some money to hold him. He would not attempt to do so, since he was assured by Major Blackburn that Hill would at once go to Atlanta and deliver himself up to his attorneys.

He assured, said the prosecutor, "that Hill is willing to get on the same train with the Atlanta officer and go back to Georgia."

Here Hill leaned over to Major Blackburn and said: "I object to going on the same train with any officer. I will go at once, but will take a different route."

Major Blackburn asked him to keep quiet, saying: "I am managing your case, Mr. Hill."

Governor Alitgold telegraphed this morning as follows to Major Blackburn: "Have received your letter, and have refused to issue a warrant for Harry Hill. The proceedings for distributing circulars should be dismissed."

Nothing Serious.
This telegram, after the case was opened, was all the argument offered by Blackburn. The state attorney made some formal remarks touching upon telegrams he had seen from B. H. Hill and letters from Harry Hill to the Chicago Tribune. The judge said the bond of Mr. McGee was annulled, and Hill was released.

Harry and his party left the court room and went about the city. Harry was accompanied by an officer. He says he regrets that he is forced to come out, but he will stay in the city. He says he will stay in the city. He says he will stay in the city.

An Atlanta Man Taken Up for Selling on the Streets of Chicago.
Chicago, January 22.—(Special.)—Charles E. Robinson, of Atlanta, was arrested here this afternoon on a charge of violating a city ordinance for distributing circulars on the streets. He was selling a patent blacking for shoes, and was doing well. Robinson is well known in Atlanta, where he has a wife and two children. He is a hotel keeper, at 180 Madison street, went on his bond, and he was released to appear tomorrow. Robinson's arrest was a surprise to his friends. He is a faithful man, and is in keeping with his loyalty to all his other clients.

Phosphate Miners Strike.
San Island Refugees Are Not Allowed to Go to Work.
Charleston, S. C., January 22.—(Special.)—The negroes employed in several of the phosphate mines in this section, who went out on a strike in consequence of a reduction of wages from $1 to 75 cents a day. The strike has been successful in securing the supply of the places of the strikers, as there are thousands of idle negroes around the mines from the sea islands. They are called cyclone refugees, but the miners will not let them work and there has been trouble all day in the vicinity of the mines. A squad of police was sent to the scene and made quite a number of arrests. It is feared that the trouble will assume a serious character tomorrow.

To Protect Georgia.
The Brave Warriors of the Border Counties Will Do Their Duty.
Waycross, Ga., January 22.—(Special.)—This morning Sheriff Miller was called to Nashville, Tenn., to see the sheriff of Glynn, Charles A. Roemer, who is in the county, in regard to perfecting plans to prevent the Corbett-Mitchell contest taking place in this state. While the sheriff would not admit it, it is understood here that the sheriffs of the border counties will meet the state attorney general tonight, and receive private instructions in reference to their duty in preventing the pugilists from crossing the St. Mary's river January 24th and 25th.

Mr. Miller said that the state would certainly provide a sufficient number of troops along the lines running into this state from Jacksonville.
